Visual Identity

Logo Mark

The design embodies femininity and womanhood with a focus on softness and quiet confidence. It takes the form of a lotus-like bloom, its petals unfurling outward in a gesture of opening rather than display, a woman returning to herself, layer by layer.

At its heart, the negative space traces the silhouette of a woman's figure, rising through the center of the bloom as its quiet core. Femininity is not ornament here; it is the very structure holding the form together.

Above her, a small hollow circle rests like a pearl cradled at the bloom's crown, something precious, deliberately held, cared for rather than displayed. This detail embodies the brand's belief that a woman's softness is not fragility, but value worth protecting.

Logo Usage Guidelines

— Always maintain clear space equal to the height of the logo mark on all sides.

— Never stretch, rotate, or distort the mark.

— Use only approved color combinations: primary (Soft Nude Beige on Champagne Cream), reversed (Champagne Cream on Soft Nude Beige), or single-color (Soft Nude Beige on white).

— Minimum size: 24px digital / 0.5-inch print to preserve detail of the negative-space silhouette.

— Do not place the mark over busy photography or patterned backgrounds.

Brand Color Palette

The palette moves like skin, tracing the emotional arc the brand is built on. Together, the five tones trace a full emotional journey from soft beginning to grounded confidence, the same journey Lunelle invites every woman to take with her own body.

Voice Characteristics

Trait	What it means
Soft but never weak	Gentle language with underlying strength. We speak tenderly without being frail.

What the Brand Voice Is Not

— Not seductive or performative - we never write for an external audience's approval.

— Campaigns should honor life's quiet in-between moments: morning rituals, solitary reflection, the act of choosing herself.
— Motherhood journey can be woven into storytelling where authentic and relevant.

— Subject lines: intimate, curiosity-forward, never promotional-sounding.
